North Somerset's Best Kept Secret IS RECRUITING

The Ascot Group is one of the South West's biggest success stories, nestled across three modern office buildings next to Worle train station, Weston-super-Mare. It was founded in 2004 by Irish-born entrepreneur, Andrew Scott, and today has 90 employees with clients across the UK, Europe and the U.S.

Andrew Scott, Founder and CEO commented: "The rules say big tech or media companies need to be in London, or maybe Bristol, but this is nonsense. We are building a world-class group of companies right here in North Somerset. We believe a great business is about people, and our region is brimming with talented and committed individuals who have a real work ethic, they just need to be given the right opportunity."
